Clarke Professor L. G. Kee, Dies

Lander G. Kee, member of the faculty of Clarke Memorial College Music Department, died Saturday, May 5 of a heart attack. He was in the hospital, because of another ailment, but seemed to be doing well, when he was fatally stricken.

Leader of the Clarke College Chorus, he had just passed his 63rd birthday on Friday, May 4. Mr. Kee had been at Clarke for nine years. Prior to that time he was on the faculty of the Clear Creek Mountain Preachers' School, Pineville, Kentucky. A native of Belmont, North Carolina, he was a graduate of Clarke College. Mississippi College will soon have a new business and economics building as a result of an initial grant and subsequent loan from the Self Foundation at Marks.

The initial grant is for $100,000, one of the larger gifts in the school's history, accompanied by a loan of $150,000, to be repaid out of the 1964 Development Program of the college.

The completed building, without equipment, will cost $350,000, with the remaining $100,000 to come from the college's accumulated share of 1960-1965 capital needs funds from the State Convention.

$50,000 For Equipment
The $50,000 for equipment will be provided by other college funds.

Permission to accept the gift, negotiate the loan, apply the capital needs matching funds as well as authorization to construct the new building was granted on Thursday of last week by a called session of the State Convention Board, which met on the college campus.

The gift was offered contingent upon construction of the building being started immediately. Under the constitution the approval of the Convention was necessary for this project. Article XVI in part reads "No new objects or enterprises involving the expenditure of money shall be projected by any institution or agency of the Convention until such object or enterprise is approved by the Convention."

The Convention Board is the Convention ad interim and thereby acts for the Convention between sessions in such matters.

Rev. Carey Cox, Brandon, president of the Board, presided over the session which met for a noon luncheon session.

Vote Unanimous
Guests included members of the college's Board of Trustees and faculty and staff personnel of the college. The vote to grant the permission to the college was unanimous.

The new building will be named Self Hall and house the Division of Business and Economics. Construction is scheduled to start this fall with completion set for the Summer of 1963, according to College President. (Continued on Page 2)

Proposals Ready For SBC

NASHVILLE (BP) — The budget for 1963, a new procedure for amending the constitution of the convention, and removing exceptions for rotating "local Board" members are among the dozen or more recommendations from the Southern Baptist Convention Executive Committee here.

They will go before the 1962 session of the convention at San Francisco next month for adoption.

Other recommendations make changes in technical wording to bring the constitution and bylaws into closer harmony with each other, provide for representation of Idioma Baptists on several SBC agencies and call for printed ballots to be used by messengers in voting.

Executive Secretary Porter Routh of Nashville said the total proposed 1963 budget for SBC agencies is $19,792,500. This is the basic amount needed. (Continued on Page 2)

100 NEW MISSIONS IN MAY GOAL FOR 30,000 MOVEMENT

By Foy Rogers, Secretary of Cooperative Missions

The 30,000 Movement is an integral part of the Baptist Jubilee Advance program. Every association and every church is invited to have a part in this great program.

Our goal for May is to establish and report 100 missions and churches. We have information to the effect that five associations and several churches are already scheduled to establish missions during this month.

These include: fire stations, nursing homes, home fellowships, unchurched communities, services in hospitals, extension Bible classes, Vacation Bible Schools, and mission Sunday schools.

This effort is being encouraged by all the departments and agencies of our Southern Baptist Convention, our state conventions, and associations.

"Mother a Mission"
The motto for May is "Mother a Mission in May," and indicates that the missions should be established and operated under the direction of a church or churches.

Many of the states are giving special emphasis during the month of May to the 30,000 Movement. The overall goal is to establish 6,000 missions and churches during the year, with 4,000 of them being reported in May.

The number of missions and churches reported since last July in Mississippi is 51 and the number reported since January 1st of this year is 29. Thus, you can see that our goal of 100 churches or missions is one that could easily be attained if two things would be done:

Should Report Mission
1. If churches or church organizations that are conducting missions which have not been reported would report them to the Cooperative Missions Department, Box 530, Jackson, Mississippi, and

2. If the leaders of our churches would behold the spiritual needs of the people in the community and endeavor to do whatever Jesus would have them do, we would surpass our goal.

(For additional stories and pictures on 30,000 please turn to Page 3.)

Gifts Of SBC Up For 1962

NASHVILLE (BP) — Cooperative Program receipts at the Southern Baptist Convention treasurer's office here are running nearly half a million dollars ahead of 1961 receipts for a four-month span.

Treasurer Porter Routh of Nashville announced January through April, 1962 receipts of $6,203,249, up $437,378 over the same four calendar months last year.

April receipts themselves amounted to $1,562,654 compared with $1,415,293 in March, 1962, and $1,499,746 in April, 1961.

Despite this continued increase in dollars, the percentage of increase declined. At the end of March, 1962, Cooperative Program receipts for the SBC agencies were 9.7 per cent ahead of 1961's first quarter. At the close of April, they were running only 8.26 per cent ahead.

Designations Increase

State Gifts Up For First Half

Mississippi Baptist Cooperative Program receipts for the first six months of this Convention year — November through April — totaled $1,281,043.89, compared to $1,174,022.69 given the same period a year ago.

This represents a 9.6% increase, according to Dr. Chester L. Quarles, Executive Secretary-Treasurer.

Receipts for April reached $260,383.87, a gain of 8.6% over the $239,867.66 given during April of last year.

The Cooperative Program is the principal channel of mission giving of the denomination.

Lottie Moon Gifts Total $9,315,754.78

RICHMOND, Va. — Books on the 1961 Lottie Moon Christmas Offering closed May 1 with a total of $9,315,754.78. This represents an increase of $1,077,283.71, or 13.08 per cent, over the 1960 total of $8,238,471.07.

Ecuador Churches Enrol Over 500 In Bible Schools

The three Baptist churches of Guayaquil, Ecuador, sponsored eight Vacation Bible schools in January, February, and March (school vacation months) with a combined enrollment of 573. Ninety-one one-day pupils put the number of those reached at 664. (Sunday school enrollment in the Baptist churches and missions is 454.)

There were 60 professions of faith in Christ and an offering of 221 sucres (about $11 U. C.) for world missions. In announcing the offering Missionary William R. Hintze used the wrong word — mundanal instead of mundial — and called it "worldly" missions.)

Thirty-seven adult workers in the schools included four students from the Baptist theological institute, Guayaquil, and two Southern Baptist missionaries.

WHITE CROSS 1962

BAPTIST HOSPITAL, HONG KONG

This hospital is now under construction and scheduled to be finished in early fall. This is the first time we have been privileged to equip a new hospital. The hospital is to be a fifty bed one — it had been hoped that it might be larger but rising costs have made it necessary to reduce the size of the hospital. Many of the items will need to be purchased in quantity (wholesale) so one of the big needs is for cash.

Send cash (marked "WMU White Cross") to the:
Baptist Convention Board
Box 530, Jackson

Send supplies to:
Woman's Missionary Union (mark the package "White Cross")
Baptist Building
Jackson

Night Circle members will like to give cash—give them an opportunity—they will not know about this unless you tell them.

YWAs can give cash or gather these articles:

Blankets, cotton (basinet) 30x40, Pads (basinet) 17x18, Pads (crib) 24x24, Pajamas, cotton (Children sizes 1-10 years of age), Sheets (crib) (45x72).

GAs can give cash or gather these articles:

Diapers (18x36), Gowns, cotton (new born babies), Gowns, cotton (1 year olds), Gowns, cotton (6 year olds), Shirts (infants), Dish towels.

SUNBEAMS It is suggested they have a "cash" shower — with everybody bringing some cash — this might be placed in a basinet or something like that. The money will be used to buy: Caps for the surgeons to wear in the operating room, Gowns for the surgeons to wear in the operating room, Masks for the surgeons to wear in the operating room, Gowns for little children in the hospital.

We would suggest the following plan be used in gathering things.

(Please note sizes requested)
District 1-2-3-4-5 Sheets (72x108)
District 6 Diapers
District 7 Pillow cases
District 8 Blankets, cotton (72-90)
District 9-10 Towels, terry (20x40)
Towels, huck (hand) (17x32)
Towel — dish
District 11 Dish cloths
Pads (Bed) 36x76 (not fitted)

Please send these in by August 20th or bring to WMU Camp.

REPRESENTATIVE of the groups of young people all over the state who have been filling church offices through Youth Week participation, is the group shown above, of First Church, Corinth. (Note the Youth Week Motto) Eighty-five young people took part in Youth Week there April 1-8. Front Row, Left to Right: Mary Dell Warford, Ruth Hall Nash, Judy Holt, Norma Winte; Second Row, Left to Right: H. G. Earwood, Jr., Minister of Music & Ed.; Phil Butler, John Davis, Albert Stevenson, James Neal Butler, Skip Gardner, Joe Ray Underwood, Hull Davis, David Kemp, youth pastor and Rev. D. L. Hill, Pastor. This group participated in the Alcorn Association-wide youth rally.

Countless Young People Heed Youth Week's Challenge

(Editor's Note: Youth Week has become a part of the program of so many churches that it is impossible to publish individual reports and pictures from all of them. Because of this we have prepared a summary report from representative churches, showing what the program is and what it does for the churches. We shall not at this time be able to publish reports of other such meetings.)

In the weeks and days of April, scores of churches in north and south and central Mississippi sponsored annual Youth Week. Other churches will be participating in Youth Weeks this week and in the months ahead.

So long is the list of churches having Youth Week — so long is the list of young people serving in Youth Week observances — so long is the list of churches submitting photographs and stories about their Youth Week to the Baptist Record — that this journal could not attempt to publish full reports of them all!

Results

The results of the Youth Weeks have been encouraging. Border Springs Church, Caledonia, Rev. Lawrence C. Riley, pastor, George Smith, youth pastor, with 35 young officers and workers, reported two confessions of faith for baptism, and an increase to 61 in Training Union attendance.

On Youth Day at Orange Grove Church, Pascagoula, two people professed faith in Christ. Three others surrendered to Christian service — Roy Collins to the ministry, Luther Roberts to be a minister of music, and Betty McCormick for foreign missions.

Mt. Negro Church, Newton, Rev. J. H. Pilgrim, pastor, Baron Pilgrim, youth pastor, took note of a record attendance of 88 in Sunday school — eight more than the enrollment.

Bellevue Church Lamar County, gave an account of eleven young people dedicating their lives. Rev. Burl T. Patterson is pastor. Rev. Gerald L. Aultman was youth pastor.

At Robinson Street Church, Jackson (pictured above), the youth deacons presented the regular deacons $141.00 with the recommendation that this be used to start a Building Fund for the future auditorium.

Students Used

Johnny Baker, president of the Mississippi State BSU and football star at State, was the morning speaker, and Bobby Shows, vice-president of the BSU and a member of the State basketball team, was the night speaker during Youth Week at Emmanuel Church, Starkville. Rev. Freddie Steelman is the pastor.

David Myers, Mississippi College student, preached at Benton Church, Yazoo County. Rev. William H. Graham, pastor, Eddie Luse, youth pastor.

Gerald Aultman, mentioned

Barry Landrum, evangelist at Paul Truitt Memorial (Rankin's) youth-led revival is a student at Southeastern Seminary, Wake Forest, N. C. He was formerly minister of music at Paul Truitt while a student at Mississippi College.

Many other students whose names have not been disclosed to the Baptist Record have been key characters in the Youth parade.

Special Activities

Moselle Memorial, Darrell Stringer, youth pastor, held joint services with the Eastabuchie Church young people, meeting two nights at each church. Rev. H. L. Davis is pastor at Moselle; Rev. C. P. Massey is pastor at Eastabuchie.

Paul Truitt Church, Rankin County, Rev. J. L. Reeves, pastor, scheduled a whole string of youth activities in connection with their youth-led revival. Among the special events were a Putt-Putt party, a luncheon, a Big Treasure Hunt and ice cream party, a buzz session, and a campfire service.

First Church, Sumner, Lent Rice and Paul Pennington, youth pastors, Rev. R. W. Dorsey, pastor, participated in the Tallahatchie County Youth Retreat. The Intermediate Training Union, the Challengers, presented a program on Wednesday evening concerning the Christian's calling.

The film, "Martin Luther," was a special Sunday night event at Benton Church, Yazoo Association.

Other Reports

Seventy-three young people became church officers at Lyon Church, Rev. Paul Harwood, pastor. Jerry Salley, their youth week pastor, was recently licensed to the gospel ministry by the Belen Church, where he was formerly a member.

Other churches which have mailed descriptions of their Youth Week observances to the Baptist Record office are:

Prospect Church, Perry County, Rev. Garland Neal, Monticello, youth pastor, Rev. Clayton Mason, pastor.

Ludlow Church, Rev. L. J. Fairchild, pastor, Joe Nelson Denson delivering the morning message, and Don Denson preaching the evening sermon.

Friendship, Monroe County, Rev. Norris Garner, pastor.

Wiggins, Leake County, Rev. H. P. McDonald, pastor, Billie Thornton conducting prayer meeting.

Matthews (Lafayette), George Giber and Lamar Baxter, youth pastors, Rev. Wesley L. Nicholas, pastor.

Crystal Springs, First, Gary Henley, youth pastor, Rev. A. Estus Mason, pastor.

Crestwood Church, Jackson, Rev. J. C. Renfro, pastor, Jerry Reeves, youth week pastor.

Awards

Each young person serving during Youth Week at Emmanuel Church, Greenville, received a miniature church key at the close of the week, in appreciation of his faithfulness to duty. Rev. Robert Perry is pastor. Rudon Laney was youth pastor.

Commendation

At Centerfield Church, Sunflower County, Dovid Mitchell, Jr., was youth pastor and song leader. Rev. L. E. Moon is pastor.

Mrs. L. E. Moon, who summarized the week's events and listed the names of the young people who participated, wrote, "There has never been a group of workers in any church any more sincere and devoted to their task than this group was."

Recommend Procedures
The Executive Committee recommends that the Convention adopt a procedure for amending its constitution so that subsequent amendments must be approved at two successive conventions.

Presently, amendments may be presented at one session, without a vote, and voted on at the following year's session.

Another recommendation calls for eliminating the exception which has been granted to "local board mem-

Active in philanthropy for the past 12 years, the Self Foundation is composed of P. M. B. Self and his two sons, William King Self and Henry C. Self.

In announcing the grant, William King Self said, "We hope this grant will encourage the establishment of a superior school of business and economics at Mississippi College to provide our state with an increasing supply of capable management personnel."

The Self family has demonstrated its business leadership in Mississippi for over 50 years. Today the family is engaged in a wide range of business interests including manufacturing, farming, banking, lumber, and retail merchandising.

In Fertilizer Business

Under the name of Riverside Industries, the family operates a complex of plants and sales outlets supplying fertilizer, feed, seed, herbicides, and insecticides to farmers in the Mid-South area.

P. M. B. Self, founder of Riverside Industries, has turned over the active management of the operations to his sons William King, who serves as president of Riverside, and Henry, who is vice-president.

A former Mississippi College student, P. M. B. Self began his business career in Marks in 1904 as youngstr of twenty-one with $800 in savings in his pocket to start a small general store for the town's 400 residents. His business acumen and genuine interest in the welfare of his neighbors gave the momentum for that modest country store to grow into a state-wide industry.

William King Self now directs the wide-spread operations of Riverside, but finds time to actively participate in other business, civic, and church organizations. He is a director of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company and is listed in Who's Who in America. He is a member of the state A and I Board, the Chicago Board of Trade, the Young President's Organization, the Newcomer Society, and president of the National Soybean Processors Association.

Henry Self Vice-President

Riverside's vice-president Henry C. Self who supervises large farming interests in Quitman County. He is vice-president of the Board of Trustees of the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, president of the Big 3 Lumber Company, president of Marks Seed Company, a director of the Delta Council, and a troop committee-man with Boy Scouts.

Modern Classrooms

According to R. A. McLemore, Self Hall will be a three-story brick structure housing the Division of Business and Economics.

Among other modern classroom facilities, the new building will be designed to house a computer center for instruction and research.

The architectural firm of Mattingly and Biggers of Jackson will plan the building.

The new building will be erected just north of the gymnasium opposite the Clinton Baptist Church.

Financial difficulties are forcing the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. (Southern) to curtail its missionary activities in several overseas countries, according to reports received at the Board of World Missions held in Nashville recently.

Indiana Ahead On Collections

PLAINFIELD, Ind. (BP) — Indiana Southern Baptists contributed more than required to meet their state Cooperative Program budget during the first quarter of 1962.

The convention reported six new churches organized during the first quarter of 1962, bringing the total to 162 churches.

bers' of the SBC agencies. Presently, agencies may retain "any local member whose technical service . . . in such matters as medical, legal, and financial operations seems to make it advisable that he be continued as a board member."

"Local members" live in the city, or within a short distance of, the agency on whose board they serve. Those covered by present exemption have not had to rotate off the boards periodically as have other members of the agencies.

To make the adjustment easier, the recommendation is that it be implemented gradually over two years and take full effect by time of the 1964 convention.

25,000 In Indiana

Indiana Baptists reported more than 25,000 members of affiliated churches, which has made them eligible to have representatives in all agencies whose charters permit.

Printed ballots for the messengers (elected by churches to vote on convention affairs) would be provided when they registered their attendance at the convention. A count of important votes, such as the election of officers, would be announced only if a majority of messengers requested it, if the recommendation passes. Vote counts are not presently reported, only the outcome.

The Executive Committee recommended that a proposed week on the convention calendar to promote the Cooperative Program be "postponed for the time being." The Cooperative Program is the financial plan to support state and nationwide Baptist work.

Others ways in which the Cooperative Program may be promoted are listed.

In continuing to prepare an organization manual of SBC agencies, the Executive Committee will present for adoption the program descriptions of two more agencies — the Southern Baptist Foundation and Southern Baptist Hospitals.

Sunday Service Soon
Attendance at the first services was excellent and Sunday services will be begun as soon as it is reasonably possible.

The Missions Committee of the Cranfield Church will be responsible for handling the affairs of the mission. The Committee is composed of: Mr. R. E. Ferrell, chairman; Mr. N. J. Coleman, Mr. Curtis Freeman, Mr. O. E. Robertson, Mr. T. C. Sandifer, Mrs. C. F. Jordan, and Mrs. A. L. Sims.

Crestwood New Mission Begun By First Booneville

By Billy E. Roby, Pastor First Church, Booneville

This mission was first started on March 17, 1960. It was started in a small house and later moved to a larger house, which is now the mission property, and where a permanent building will be erected this coming summer.

The property was purchased on March 19, 1961 for the total price of $7,000.00. This property has been improved and at least $1,000.00 worth of equipment and improvements have been done. This indebtedness has been paid between the months of March and December in 1961.

There has been a total of 58 additions: 33 by baptism and 25 by letter. The average attendance in Sunday School for the overall period has been 43. The beginning enrollment was 23 and the enrollment now is 87. The Sunday School attendance average now is in the 60's and 70's.

The First Baptist Church voted to build a new $13,000.00 building on January 10, 1962. The building committee is composed of Thurman Gann, E. E. McCoy, Hugh Dickerson, Joe Parr and W. C. Eaker. The Missions Committee is composed of E. E. McCoy, Hugh Dickerson, W. C. Eaker and A. S. Green, and C. C. Walden. The pastor of the First Baptist Church preaches at the mission in the morning and the evening and preceding the services at the main church.

Brotherhood Supports
The Brotherhood is in charge of the mission services on Thursday night. A program in Sunday School and Training Union is being conducted. It is hoped that we will be able to start G. A.'s and R. A.'s in the very near future. The offerings are averaging about $70.00 per week at this time, and have been doing so for quite some time.

The mission property now has an old dwelling house Sunday School and the first unit of a three unit plan will be erected this summer on a beautiful four acre plot purchased by the First Baptist Church. The ground breaking ceremonies were held March 4, 1962.

California Ups Mission Share

FRESNO, Calif. (BP) — The executive board of Southern Baptist General Convention of California voted here to recommend a California Cooperative Program budget of $935,000 for 1963.

The board also approved an increase in the percentage of its going to the Southern Baptist Convention for worldwide missionary work. Presently, 24 per cent goes outside the state; this would be increased to 25.

The true function of organization, then, is the orderly arrangement of people who volunteer to participate in a co-operative endeavor, with common, mutually accepted goals; so that there may be a minimum of energy and effort expended and a maximum of results in group achievement and individual growth. — Ernest J. Loessner in January Church Administration.

Woman's Missionary Union Supports 30,000 Movement

By Miss Edwina Robinson
WMU Secretary

Woman's Missionary Union shares in the responsibility for the promotion of the 30,000 Movement and calls upon its members to co-operate with the churches in establishing missions. Woman's Missionary Union should work through the church missions committee.

If there is no missions committee, the president of the society should confer with the pastor who will assume the responsibility for leading the church to see the need for such a committee.

There are various types of work in the 30,000 Movement which are "natural" for Woman's Missionary Union through its already established community missions activities. Missions may be established in many places such as:

fire stations, home for the aging, shops factories, boys' homes, girls' homes, rescue missions, prisons, county homes, hospitals, and trailer camps.

Sustained community mission activities which fulfill the requirements of the definition of a mission should be reported to the church missions committee and/or the pastor and the chairman of the state 30,000 committee, Dr. Foy Rogers, Box 530, Jackson.

Thrilling Theme
"My Church Reaching Out" is a thrilling call to every member of Woman's Missionary Union. Let us look beyond the four walls of our own church to the neglected sections of the community, the overlooked rural areas nearby, the forgotten minority groups, institutions housing lonely people of special need — these are places where the gospel needs to be taken and we can be the bearers.

Mastercontrol Is Heard in Africa

Radio station ELBC, Monrovia, Liberia, West Africa, now broadcasts a special inter-national version of the half hour variety program "Master Control" at 3:00 p. m. each Sunday.

The new African outlet was obtained during a recent filming project by Southern Baptists' Radio and Television Commission in Liberia.

The Rev. Adrian Coleman, Southern Baptist missionary to Liberia, is handling all mail response received by the program and providing personal follow-up where possible.

"Master Control" on ELBC carries the address of the Southern Baptist Mission in Liberia.

The commission hopes to extend this international version of "Master Control" to other countries as rapidly as possible. A recent request for the program has been received by the commission from a radio station in Ethiopia.

teer to participate in a co-operative endeavor, with common, mutually accepted goals; so that there may be a minimum of energy and effort expended and a maximum of results in group achievement and individual growth. — Ernest J. Loessner in January Church Administration.

Mother A Mission

There are several types of missions and every church should be in a position to start at least one type.

These include a full mission that will ultimately become a church, a permanent mission to meet a need for an indefinite time, a branch Sunday School, an Institutional Mission and a Home Fellowship.

Report Every Mission

Every mission should be reported to Dr. Foy Rogers, Secretary Department of Cooperative Missions, Mississippi Baptist Convention Board, P. O. Box 530, Jackson, Miss., and a certificate will be sent.

Those churches which have previously started missions and not reported them are urged to do so during May.

Mother A Mission In May

As a part of the Baptist Jubilee Advance 1962 Church Extension Year program, and in connection with the 30,000 Movement, churches of the Southern Baptist Convention are being asked to start new missions during the month of May. Thousands of such missions should be started within the next few weeks as direct result of this emphasis.

Even though Mississippi is probably one of the most heavily church states in America, there are yet hundreds of places in Mississippi where a mission or a church is needed.

What is a place of mission need? It might well be defined as any point where there is a need for preaching or teaching the gospel of Christ. Not every place that needs a mission, needs a church. Mission work is needed in many points where it would never be possible for an independent church to be supported.

There are probably points in almost every community in Mississippi where a mission Sunday school, or some type of mission ministry is needed. Baptist churches need to alert themselves to these opportunities, and start such services now.

If, after careful survey, it is found there is not a single need for a mission, why not contact the Montana Missions Committee (Write Dr. Quarles or the Committee, Box 530, Jackson) and mother a mission in that great state. Many churches which start missions in Mississippi may also want to sponsor a mission there.

Why not read the articles on this program found elsewhere in this issue of the Record and determine now that your church will "mother a mission in May."

Send Your Pastor

Is your church planning to send your pastor (and perhaps his wife) to the Southern Baptist Convention in San Francisco? We recognize that the distance is far and that the cost will be greater than usual, but a large number of churches should send their pastors this year.

Some of the most important issues in many years may come before the Convention at the approaching session. Those attending the meeting, and especially those who drive, will have opportunity to see some of the greatest mission advance Southern Baptists have made in all their history.

Only a few years ago California and other western states were simply a mission field as far as Southern Baptists were concerned. Today there is no area where advance is greater. The opportunity to see this should fire the hearts of pastors for the Home Mission program. Attendance at this session will be a real mission investment.

Send your pastor. Provide adequate funds for all of his expenses. If the trip is partly vacation, it will still be a real mission investment. We hope large numbers of Mississippians will be in attendance.

An Old Friend, A New Dress

There has just come to my desk a copy of the current issue of The Report From The Capital, publication of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs in Washington, D. C.

This publication has been appearing for several years, and has continually carried informative, up-to-date reports and analysis of Washington affairs that were of special interest or significance in the field of religious liberty and Baptist principles.

In its new format the publication is larger, and much more attractive. It should immediately see a greatly increased circulation, among both ministers and laymen. The subscription cost of $1.00 per year is nominal.

Individuals wishing to subscribe or to see sample copies of the publication in order that they may consider whether they desire to subscribe for it, may write the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, 1628 Sixteenth Street, N. W., Washington 9, D. C.

I Cannot But Wonder

I sat by him for nearly five hours during a bus trip from Memphis to Jackson.

He was about twenty-one or twenty-two years of age. From the state of Oregon, he would not see his home again for more than a year.

Neatly dressed and clean-cut in appearance, he was quiet and unassuming in manner, and one was impressed as he watched him reading from his New Testament.

He had introduced himself as a missionary of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints. This is the group commonly called Mormons.

This young man had completed only two years of his college work. He was looking forward to the time when he could return to the campus to complete his education. His wedding date had been set, the plans had been completed, and the invitations had been mailed.

The Church Calls
Just at that time his church had called upon him to give two years of his life to the task of propagating his faith. He would have to pay his own way, but could not earn the money during the two years of his missionary service, for that ministry must be full-time. The money to pay his expenses must either be earned before his ministry began, or must be provided by his family. In his case he had earned the money.

The church only asks one time. The young man did not have to go, but there would be no second chance. Almost every promising young man and woman among the Mormons is asked to give two years of service to this missionary work. Each must pay his own way.

Ready to Serve
This young man had postponed his wedding and his college plans. He had joined the thousands of other Mormon missionaries busy in many areas of the world, knocking on doors and seeking to persuade people to accept the Mormon faith.

He had undergone thorough training for his task, and then had begun his work in the Memphis area. Now he was coming to Jackson to meet another young man and they would go together to Meridian where they will spend the coming months knocking on doors there.

As we rode along together we discussed the differences in Mormon and Baptist doctrine. I sought to point out what I felt was the error in his doctrinal interpretation, and to show him from the Bible just how to be saved.

The Way Of The Cross Leads Home

Baptist Beliefs

By Herschel H. Hobbs
Pastor, First Baptist Church
Oklahoma City, Okla.

GLORIFICATION

The term "glorification" refers to the ultimate and complete salvation which shall be realized in heaven. This does not mean that one is not saved in the sense of redemption until he gets to heaven. Redemption or regeneration occurs the second one trusts in Jesus as Saviour (John 1:1; 3:3). Sanctification is the process by which the redeemed grows in grace, knowledge, and service of and for Christ (II Peter 3:18, Eph. 4:13). Glorification is the culmination of this process in heaven (Heb. 9:28).

Paul speaks of Christians as being "heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together. For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us" (Rom. 8:17-18).

Through His sanctification or dedication to the cross Jesus received the glory which was His before the world was (John 7:5, 19; Phil. 2:5-11). While His sufferings are not comparable to those of Jesus on the cross, the Christian is to suffer in finite degree in his service as did Jesus infinitely in His earthly life (Col. 1:24). This suffering is involved in the Christian's sanctification. He, then, is not only heir to Christ's glory, but to His suffering as well (Rom. 8:17). And his degree of glory will be in proportion to his degree of dedication. The Bible teaches degrees of reward in heaven (Matt. 25:14-30; Luke 19:12-27).

All the redeemed will be saved in heaven. Some will be saved "as by fire" (I Cor. 3:14-15); their works will be burned. Each will enjoy heaven to the full degree of his capacity. But the reward of one will be greater than that of another, according to his fruitbearing while on earth.

All Christians will share in the glory of Christ in heaven (Rev. 4:11; 5:5-14; 20:21). Mortal man cannot conceive of this glory. "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him" (I Cor. 2:7-9; II Tim. 4:6-8).

He, as a Mormon, does not believe that people are saved in this life. Neither does he believe that there is salvation outside the Mormon church, but teaches that those who reject that doctrine here, or fail to have opportunity to receive it, will have a second chance, after death, in what the sect calls the "spirit prison."

I gave my testimony of my own personal experience of salvation, and of the joy that I and other Christians have in being saved here and now. How effective my words were, I cannot know, and as we parted, I could only pray that this young man could know Jesus Christ as his personal saviour.

Some Afterthoughts

As I left him, and many times since, I have found myself meditating on some of the things he had said, and of what he had done in order to serve his church. How many Baptist young people would be willing to give up home, marriage, education, etc., and at their own expense, spend two years walking streets, knocking on doors and talking to people about Christ?

Perhaps many of our young people would be fully willing to do those things. Maybe we have simply failed to challenge them to do so. Perhaps we have made Christianity and church relationship too easy, and not demanding enough. Maybe the reason many of our people do not do more, is because we have not asked them.

Every Mormon must be a missionary, seeking to win others to his faith, whether he is asked to give the special service or not. Would every Baptist do that if he were faced with the responsibility and the challenge?

I cannot accept Mormon doctrine, and no truly born-again person can, for it has too many teachings not based upon the Word of God. Also, I am still convinced that the Baptists plan of missionaries serving with a life commitment, and going to the fields supported by the churches, is the Scriptural and the best plan. Nevertheless, it may be that we need to add something else. Perhaps we need a new enlistment program such as a Baptist Mission Corps, with thousands of people, young and old, becoming definite witnesses for Christ in a special commitment, for a limited period of time.

I cannot help but wonder, as I think of a certain young man from Oregon, who, with his partner, is knocking on doors in a Mississippi city, right now.

New Books

THE BEATITUDES OF JESUS BY WILLIAM FITCH (WM. B. EERDMAN'S, 132 pp., $3.00).

The author, a Presbyterian pastor serving in Toronto, Canada, believes that in the Beatitudes we have one of the best tests of our walk and witness as Christians. He has written a separate chapter for each of the eight Beatitudes, illuminating each in clear-cut, vivid words. He sees in them "the testament of the wealth of the inheritance that is ours in Jesus Christ our Lord." He sees in them "our Lord's portrait of the Christian man."

THE WINNING MOVE BY J. S. A. WORBOYS (CHRISTOPHER, 142 pp., $3.00).

Here is a book of challenging sermons gleaned from a preacher's lifetime of preaching and writing. The author came to America from Australia. He received his education in England, and served as pastor in London and in Kent. In America, he has had pastorates in Baptist churches in New Jersey and Vermont.

RUTH THE GLEANER AND ESTHER THE QUEEN BY WILLIAM M. TAYLOR (Baker Book House, 269 pp., 2.95).

Taylor, the great preacher, and writer of Bible biographies, could bring the women of the Bible to life, as well as the men. He had a talent for delving into characters and reproducing them on paper. The author once said that there was a link of association between Esther and Ruth "inasmuch as the Book of Ruth describes the experiences of a Gentile widow in the midst of Jewish surroundings; and the Book of Esther describes those of a Jewish orphan in a Gentile city."

WOMEN WHO MADE BIBLE HISTORY BY HAROLD J. OCKENGA (Zondervan, 239 pp., $3.50).

These striking, thought-provoking messages deal with familiar women of the Bible. The reader, if he looks carefully, can see his own problems mirrored in the sketches. The author, for the past 25 years, has been pastor of the Park Street Congregational Church on the Boston Common.

MALACHI OR WILL A MAN ROB GOD? BY S. FRANKLIN LOGSDON (MOODY PRESS, 128 pp.).

One of the Moody Press Colportage Library series, this is an intricate study of the book of Malachi. The author states that conditions in the days of Malachi, just before the first advent of the Lord, are very similar to those predicted to prevail just before His second coming.

SEVEN SINS AND SEVEN VIRTUES BY KARL A. OLSSON (HARPER BROTHERS, 126 pp., $2.75).

With wit and wisdom and imagination, Dr. Olsson writes on the seven sins (pride, envy, anger, sloth, avarice, gluttony, lust) and the seven virtues (wisdom, justice, courage, temperance, faith, love, hope.) His brilliant phrase are a delight and a pleasure to read. He "cuts to the heart of modern illusions and spiritual disease" and prescribes a Christian cure.

HEART-TO-HEART TALKS WITH MOTHERS BY ANN HOEK (Zondervan, 61 pp., paperback, $1.00).

The theme: A mother should be aware that she is like a sheep, whose children are little lambs following after.

Counselor's Corner

By Dr. R. Lofton Hudson

"Three Decisions for Success"

QUESTION: I am past 30. God's Spirit dealt with me when I was 21 or 22. Since then I decided to see those great things he would do for me. In spite of this my life seems to be a failure. I was told that there are three important decisions in life: acceptance of Christ, marriage and vocation. None of these has worked out for me, except the first. I see my wife-to-be and she sees me, but without vocation this cannot work out. Where have I missed the way? I await the outcome.

ANSWER: You do not await the outcome; you create it. You are what you intelligently plan to be, under God.

What do you mean, you have failed in vocation? Get an honest job and work your insides out. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world an honest day's work for an honest wage. I have seen very few people who could not get a job if they were flexible enough to do whatever was available.

Instead of sitting around and waiting for God to do "great things" for you—and feeling sorry for yourself—eat some humble pie, swallow your pride, and try to make someone else happy.

If you have truly accepted Christ, the next step is to bear a cross for him. This means die to the childish self and live for the big thing of service and love. This is the only true success.

What Is She Really Like?

By Wallace Denton
Midwest Christian Counseling Center
Kansas City 12, Missouri

Dear Ministers' Wives:

By the goodness of the state editors, Dr. Wallace Denton of Kansas City, Missouri, and Mrs. C. C. Warren (formerly Mrs. Sybil Townsend of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary) of Charlotte, North Carolina, we have been able to furnish you with four splendid articles of vital interest to all of us as wives of ministers. I trust they have been helpful to you and those whom you serve. Conferences will be held for your benefit in San Francisco, June 6, 3-5 P. M. at the Civic Auditorium. Five capable women from all sections of the U. S. A. will be conference leaders.

—Mrs. J. D. Grey, President
Conference of Ministers' Wives

What kind of person is a minister's wife? Numerous articles have appeared in recent months which depict her in various ways. Mainly they describe her as a resentful, frustrated woman. Some are. But the results of a questionnaire completed by 125 Southern Baptist pastors' wives at the Conference of Ministers' Wives in St. Louis last spring suggests this is a distorted picture. More than nine out of ten of these wives said they find their role as the wife of a minister to be quite fulfilling. So far as other facts about these wives are concerned, 88 percent were in the 25 to 45 age group. They had been married an average of 12½ years. And these wives have an average of two and one-half children. (I've never been sure how you have half a child!)

Education

Educationally, these pastors' wives have distinguished themselves since 45 percent have a college degree hanging on the wall. Of this number, 10 percent more have earned master's degrees and one was a medical doctor. Thirteen percent have no more than a high school education, which, of course, does not mean they are necessarily any less competent as ministers' wives. However, the majority of the wives of ministers whom I have interviewed who are not college graduates express some sense of inadequacy and self-consciousness because of its lack.

Why A Minister?

Why does a woman marry a minister? One item on the questionnaire attempted to get at some of the reasons by asking what it was that first attracted them to their husbands. Seventeen percent said they were attracted first because they were ministers. These were evidently looking for a minister which, I might add, is a worthy pursuit! 50 percent said they were glad their husbands were ministers but would have been attracted to them anyway. One out of five said they were first attracted for other reasons and the fact that they were ministers was incidental. The husbands of ten percent of the women were not ministers or considering being one at the time of marriage. None of the wives said they would have preferred that he be in another type of work. Thus, it would appear that this particular sample of wives were either looking for a minister or else glad that the man they came to love was a minister.

Further Light

Further light is shed on the type of person who is married to a pastor in their answers to an open ended question about what they considered the "place" of a minister's wife to be. Fifty-two percent of the wives placed their husbands at the center of their answers. An example of this type of response is: "I think her place is to help her husband be the very best possible minister." Thirty percent made the home the central focus, and eighteen percent made the church. None answered in such a way as to suggest their "place" was to meet their own needs and interests.

Not only do these wives perceive of their place as focusing on their husbands, but they also see themselves as being vitally involved in their work. One question asked to what degree they participated in their husbands' ministry. One out of three wives checked the alternative indicating they do much together as teamworkers working side by side. But the majority of them, sixty-two percent, see themselves as doing much together, but in a more background, supportive manner. Only five percent say they are no more involved than any other active laywoman in the church.

This is the third and final report of this piece of research. The research has raised some interesting questions about the minister's wife, pointed up her joys and satisfactions, and yet given cause for some concern. But above all, it is hoped that it has renewed our appreciation for the caliber, devotion, and dedication of this significant person. Surely, "her price is far above rubies."

Assembly Meetings Study Communism

(By The Baptist Press)

How did communism begin? What are its basic theories? What is the explanation for its phenomenal growth throughout the world? How can Christians meet this challenge?

These and other questions will be discussed at summer conferences sponsored by the Christian Life Commission.

Conferences will be held at two Baptist summer assemblies — at Glorieta, N. M., Aug. 9-15 and at Ridgecrest, N. C., Aug. 23-29.

Speakers for both conferences will be Foy Valentine, executive secretary of the Christian Life Commission, and Ross Coggins, the commission's associate secretary, both from Nashville.

Widespread Interest — This special emphasis, according to Valentine, has been planned in response to widespread interest in communism.

"Here is an excellent opportunity," he said, "for Southern Baptists to participate in a depth study of the most powerful adversary Christianity has ever confronted. The gospel is supremely and un-quely adequate to defeat communism. The urgent need is for Christians to have faith which relates more intelligently to our contemporary crisis."

Those wishing to attend either of these conferences should make reservations with the Glorieta or Ridgecrest assembly managers. At both assemblies the Christian Life Commission will coincide with the annual Bible conferences.

Youth Meet Delayed

NASHVILLE — Due to a conflict on the denominational calendar, the Southern Baptist National Conference on Youth has been re-scheduled for Apr. 28-30, 1964. It had originally been set for Apr. 23-25, 1963.

Miss Josephine Pile, editor of Intermediate lesson courses in the Sunday School Department of the Sunday School Board, has been named chairman of the conference's steering committee.

About 300 persons are expected to attend the meeting.

"From the Most High Cometh Healing" Receives Mental Health Award

A 30-minute Southern Baptist documentary film dealing with the new hospital team — physician, psychiatrist and minister has received a mental health award for "exceptional contributions to public enlightenment on mental illness."

Produced in cooperation with the National Broadcasting Co., the television program was entitled "From the Most High Cometh Healing."

Sequences for the film were shot in North Carolina at the State Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem; Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest; and New Orleans (La.) Baptist Hospital.

Representatives from NBC and the Radio-TV Commission and the hospitals will attend an awards luncheon in New York City on May 17 at Sardi's held in their honor by the National Association for Mental Health (Inc.).

The program, shown twice on the NBC-TV network to an audience estimated at eight million demonstrates how the united efforts of the spiritual and medical specialists can be used to "Treat the whole man."

ELECTRONICS AID STUDY OF CLASSIC LANGUAGE

NEW ORLEANS, La. — When the writers of the New Testament penned their books and epistles in Greek, electronics was not even in the vocabulary.

But the modern miracle of electronics is being used effectively in the study of this ancient language at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

The originator of a language Laboratory at the Seminary, Greek Professor V. Wayne Barton, believes that this is the only such lab in use in any American theological school. "Of course, I don't know the situation in all seminaries, but our lab is unique among Southern Baptist seminaries and the several schools of other denominations with which I am familiar," Dr. Barton said.

The New Orleans language lab, still classed as an experiment, consists of two tape recorders with 12 listening posts. Two pronunciation drills are run at the same time and students can switch into either drill.

Presently the two drills are a straight vocabulary drill correlated with the Greek textbook and a reading drill from the Gospel of John.

Two Languages Reported

Dr. Barton, who records the pronunciations for the Seminary's Greek students, emphasizes that the lab is arranged so that Hebrew as well as Greek may be presented over the listening network simultaneously in an expanded program of pronunciation drills.

"Many people ask me why we are teaching our students to speak," Dr. Barton said, "but this is not exactly the case. We are teaching our students to read Greek so they may be able to study the Bible in the original language.

"By requiring some study in the language lab, students have three points of association with each Greek word — sight, hearing and meaning," he continued.

An Experiment

The idea for a language lab in the study of biblical tongues came through the interest an alumnus of New Orleans Seminary, Howard Catledge, pastor of First Baptist Church, Marro, La., did not take Greek during his Seminary studies, but found that a reading knowledge of this language was desirable after becoming a pastor.

He asked Dr. Barton to dictate some vocabulary drills on to tapes for his personal use. A portion of the Gospel of John was subsequently added and this experiment in personal study became the basis for the Seminary language lab.

"This experiment in a language lab is just that — an experiment," Dr. Barton said, "but we are hopeful that students will receive real help in their study of biblical language through this electronic method of learning pronunciation."

Results Of Repeal Made Clear

(Note: Some time ago we wrote Dr. H. H. Hobbs, President of the Southern Baptist Convention and also pastor of First Baptist Church of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, to give us his appraisal of conditions in Oklahoma before and after repeal of the prohibition laws of the state of Oklahoma. In reply he sent the following information which is from "The Oklahoma Issue". It gives the story before and after repeal. — C. M. Day, Director of Temperance, Mississippi Baptist Convention Board.)

In The Oklahoma Issue, March-April 1962, some interesting facts occur as follows:

REPEAL — AN ERA OF THE LIQUOR INDUSTRY CORRUPTING POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Newspaper headlines of March 16, 1962: "Liquor Office Bared Inside State Capitol." "Andrews Says He Used Room of Speaker."

"Representative Red Andrews of Oklahoma City testified Friday he did business for a liquor wholesaler in the capitol office of House Speaker J. D. McCarty."

This is the kind of control that we have with legal liquor. This incident is only one of many where the liquor industry showed its hand in Oklahoma politics.

REPEAL — AN ERA OF CORRUPTING YOUTH.

Newspaper headlines of November 1961 read: "Teen-age Liquor Club Raids Trap 32 In State Crackdown." (Tulsa Tribune). "Drunken Teen-agers All Over the Place." (Henrietta Daily Free Lance).

Killed By House

The Oklahoma State Senate passed Senate Bill 209 which sought to eliminate the more than 400 unconstitutional "private" liquor clubs that have developed since Repeal — even in state-owned and state-supported state park lodges. This bill was killed by the action taken by Representative J. D. McCarty, Speaker of the House of Representatives, by assigning it to two unfriendly committees. This bill sought to preserve Section 4 of the Oklahoma constitution.

The legal control era of Oklahoma sees less respect for the constitution of the state than the bootlegger era. The bootlegger era had about a dozen private clubs that flaunted the constitution; today under Repeal, disrespect for the constitution is the order of the day, with over 400 private saloons.

REPEAL — AN ERA OF INCREASED CRIME.

Nation-wide crime increased 1960 over 1959 by 14%. In the same period, crime in Oklahoma increased 28%.

	U. S.	Okl.
Total Crimes	14%	28%
Murder	6%	13%
Forcible Rape	2%	17%
Robbery	18%	65%
Aggravated Assault	5%	13%
Burglary	17%	38%

Larceny over $50 14% 2%

Auto Theft 9% 45%

REPEAL — AN ERA OF INCREASED TAXES.

1. Increased crime

The first year of Repeal brought a 15.1% increase in police employees to handle the "booming" crime problems. This increased cost of law enforcement is paid for by the taxpayer.

Highway Slaughter

2. Increased highway slaughter

The highway patrol was granted 100 new troopers by Gov. Edmondson on March 2, 1962, because of the increased number of highway deaths for 1962 over 1961. The year of 1961 saw the all time high. The reason — Dr. Herman Heise of the National Safety Council says at least 50% of the death due to drinking (not only drunk) drivers.

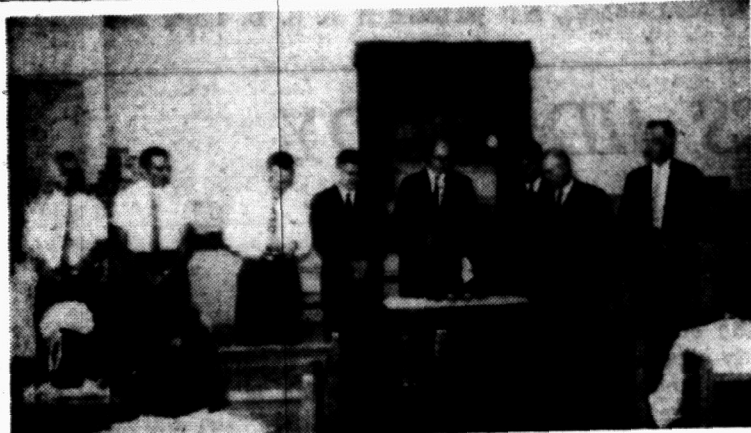

3. Increased cost of policing, rehabilitating and caring for alcoholics.

4. Increased number of admissions to mental institutions.

The National Association for Mental Health figures point out that "One out of every four mentally disturbed Americans is an alcoholic."

Perhaps we should also include another liability of Repeal — the increased cost of insurance premiums paid for (1) hospitalizing the alcoholics and (2) cost of accidents due to drinking and driving.

CATHOLIC ORGANIZATION OPPOSES JUNIOR COLLEGE

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (RNS) — Civic and religious groups are split here over a proposed law creating a junior college district in Greater St. Louis. The question is to be decided by voters in a referendum.

Citizens for Educational Freedom, an organization composed mainly of Roman Catholics and advocating inclusion of non-public schools in any federal aid to education measure, has attacked the proposal on the ground that a Junior college system eventually would lead to a state monopoly of college education. That group has contended that taxes imposed to operate the system would make it financially impossible for many parents to send their children to non-state-supported institutions.

Endorsement for the proposal has come from the executive committee of the St. Louis chapter of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State (POAU) as well as some leading Protestant and Roman Catholic clergymen in the area.

GLOBE-TROTTERING WITH GINNY WILL CORINTH'S FATE BE A LESSON TO US?

By Virginia Harris Hendricks

CORINTH, Greece (BP) — According to our map we were in Corinth. Cries of disappointment came from the family as we regarded the ugly, uninteresting town. We were in the 20th Century rebuilt village.

I consulted the guide book and renewed their interest: "Old Corinth is four miles farther!"

Not far from the sea, a fortified mountain dominates the otherwise flat plain where fabulous Corinth once bloomed. The first landmark that greets the tourist is the great classic temple of Apollo.

When we entered the city, we walked on limestone-paved streets. We learned that less than 100th part of the ancient city has been excavated, but this portion includes many of the chief buildings.

Ruins of fountains and shops, potters' quarters and tile factories are clearly evident. A tourist is reminded that once this city was world-renowned for its luxurious living, its richly carved and painted decorations, its massive columns, fountains and statues.

Streets were once paved with marble. Public latrines were flushed with water... a mark of civilization now lacking in much of modern Greece!

Of special interest to us was the Dams, a rostrum once covered with marble and flanked by stairways and columns. Here important officials appeared before the people. It was here that Paul defended himself and the Christian religion before Gallio, the Roman governor.

Corinth became the first ranking, most modern city of Greece, larger and wealthier than Athens, the capital. Corinth gradually weakened from wickedness and corruption. According to Paul's letters, corruption even crept into the Christian church there.

Wars, invasions and earthquakes plagued Corinth down to the present century. Finally the Corinthians gave up the seemingly cursed ancient site, and built their present city on the dull plain.

Our nation is to the world today what Corinth represented to her age... wealth and power. But Corinth, lacking spiritual strength, collapsed.

Are American Christians doing their utmost to contribute to the national spiritual strength and to share the cleansing, healing good news of Christ with the world?

—THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON— Suffering For Christ's Sake

By Clifton J. Allen
1 Peter 4-5
Suffering for Christ's sake was a common experience for the early Christians. The same has been true for many Christians down through the centuries. There is no reason to believe that the future will be different. Peter's letter abounds in practical counsel. It teaches us that fellowship with Christ inevitably involves suffering. Recognition of this fact and conscious submission to it encourages a break with sin and stimulates moral purpose. Suffering for righteousness' sake, also, is a call to prayer, an opportunity for showing hospitality and demonstrating love, and a challenge to exercise greater trust in the goodness and power of God.

The issues seem to be more and more sharply drawn. The enemies of Christ are more determined, and the forces of evil are more demonic and cruel. Why do we not suffer more for our faith? Perhaps our witness is too weak to stir up the ungodly against us.

The Lesson Explained
Response to Persecution (4:12-19)

Peter wrote his letter to Christians living under fire. The counsel he gave may be set forth in four admonitions: (1) Do not be surprised at persecution. Among the early Christians uncounted numbers were called on to die for their faith; even larger numbers suffered ostracism, discrimination, and ridicule. Christians now ought not to expect to escape mistreatment and hardship. (2) Count it an honor. There can be rejoicing by Christians. Thus they partake in Christ's sufferings, and thus they will surely share in his glory. If we are reproached for the name of Christ, this indicated that the Holy Spirit is working through us for Christ.

(3) Examine your own life. Of course, it is expected that suffering would result from murder or theft or any criminal act or violating the rights of others. Christians should be on their guard never to deserve suffering for such a cause. Their conduct is to be such that they will be blameless and guiltless in the midst of a crooked and corrupt generation. (4) Commit the matter to God. When persecution does come to the Christian — just because he is a Christian — he can commit the issue to God's sovereignty and God's grace. By patience and forbearance and meekness one can glorify God. If the judgment of mercy means suffering for a Christian, the judgment of wrath will be far more terrible for the ungodly and sinners. Christians can endure suffering, knowing that God will be faithful to his promise to preserve them into the end.

Faith For the Crises of Life (5:6-11)

Again we have a series of admonitions from the apostle that contain practical guidance for Christian living. (1) Submit to the providence of God. We cannot fully understand God's providences, but we can have a submissive spirit. His hand may rest upon us with severe chastening, but in due time he will exalt those who are faithful to him. (2) Trust in the Lord. Simon Peter could write out of experience. When he was imprisoned by Herod chained to his guards, facing probable martyrdom, he slept without anxiety, trusting in the care of God. Remember that the very hairs of your head are numbered. God's care never fails.

(3) Be alert to Satan's attacks. This is a part of what it means to be sober and vigilant. Like a roaring lion, fiercely hungry, the devil is always stalking about seeking to destroy the followers of Christ. He appears often as "an angel of light," but he is always a seducer and a destroyer. He may bring upon us the severest temptation or the sorest affliction, but he can be overcome in the strength of the Lord. (4) Be patient while God's grace works. During the time of persecution and in every experience of suffering, his grace is sufficient for every need. When the purposes of God for this life are completed, he will call us to his eternal glory by Christ Jesus. We can endure the struggles of this present time knowing that they are designed to make us steadfast and strong.

Truths to Live By

Suffering can be expected. — Disobedience to Christ will bring bitterness of soul, loss of peace, spiritual weakness, and the chastening of the Lord. Sin always brings pain and shame if all the facts are known. Such suffering is unnecessary for the Christian; it is unjustified; but it is a part of human weakness. On the other hand, resisting sin, taking a stand against evil, and daring to champion what is right will bring the attacks of the foes of the Lord. The forces of evil hate the kind of living that reflects the moral quality of Christ, and they will try to ridicule and in insult and destroy persons of aggressive moral purpose. It is always costly to try to give a Christian witness and to try to be a Christian worker.

Courage is needed to speak boldly for Christ. — The situation may be a civic club, a political meeting, a trade organization, a labor union group, a college fraternity, or a military camp. Someone may propose beverage alcohol, or a dishonest deal, or slander against an innocent person, or an adventure in lust, or a scheme for gambling. Then is the time for a Christian to speak. It takes courage to declare the Christian standard, to rebuke a godless plan, and to refuse a crooked deal. There may be jeers. There may be financial loss. Whatever the consequences, a Christian needs courage to face them.

NOTES AND QUOTES:

Do you know of a church with our approximate Training Union enrollment (393 last Sunday) somewhere in our vicinity that might respond to a challenge from our Training Union? writes CHARLES DORRIS, MINISTER OF EDUCATION AND MUSIC AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, CRYSTAL SPRINGS. What he has in mind is a competitive attendance campaign.

Not long ago an Associational Pastor-led Training Union Enlargement campaign was planned for Lafayette Association. Later the campaign was canceled, but one church decided it was a good program and went right ahead with their own campaign. THIS WAS THE PHILADELPHIA CHURCH OF WHICH MILTON SCARBOROUGH IS PASTOR AND MRS. J. W. BUSBY, DIRECTOR. This week resulted in a 5% increase in enrollment and a 15% increase in attendance.

DR. W. L. HOWSE OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD writes that the Associational Sunday School, Training Union, and the Music Ministry organizations will promote a preview study of the 1962-63 Curriculum Guide in October. The preview pamphlet should be available in July.

HELP WANTED!!! The Hollandale Church has thirty people committed to attend Gulfshore July 23-28 but transportation for only 15. MRS. W. A. DUNAWAY OF HOLLANDALE proposes sharing a bus with some other church in that area. If interested, call her.

Known By The Scars

By Dr. Allen O. Webb, Pastor, Daniel Memorial, Jackson
"Ye shall know them by their fruits . . ."
Matthew 8:16

Recently, a very fine physician was discussing one outstanding basis for judging the work of his profession. He indicated that he had known many doctors who had outstanding knowledge in the realm of surgery, but that the surgeon was ultimately judged by his scars. If the scar on his patient was smooth and gave evidence of efficiency in closing the incision, it left the strong supposition that the doctor was outstanding. In other words the physician is not judged by what he may know nor by what he may say but rather by the work that he has done. Knowledge alone does not rate a person as outstanding but rather knowledge that is transformed into efficient service to an individual. He is known and recognized by the results of the work that he has done.

In a very similar manner, we can say that a Christian is known by his scars. A widely recognized speaker spent much time discussing the merits, blessings, and urgency of winning souls to Christ. It sounded as if he would be a leader in his local church and would be constantly urging the people to win others to Christ. Upon investigation, it was found that this man had never been present on Thursday night for visitation from his local church, and no one in the community knew of anyone that he had won to the Lord. He had talked much but there was no scar. There was no broken heart for the lost and no evidence of the plaintive cry to God for another. There was no fruit of his labor.

The Christian is not recognized by the Lord for how much he knows, but by the knowledge that is put in practice and applied to the hearts of men. Another man gave the testimony of the need for winning the lost. He was present to visit, and was regular in his witnessing. Within the period of a year, he had won fifty-five men and boys for Christ. The scars of service were numerous. God blessed his knowledge and his dedicated efforts.

Christ was known by His scars. There were scars in his hands, feet and side. Greater than these were the lives that he reached and the hearts that He changed. Let us follow the example of Christ and leave some permanent fruit in the salvation of a soul. It is not what we say that lasts. It is not what we know that blesses. It is the scar of service that indicates that sin has been removed and the illness healed. May God lead us all to bear constant fruit.

Big Fire Strikes Mobile Church During Revival

MOBILE, Ala. — During a revival week at the Dauphin Way Baptist Church here, "real fire" fell on the church, causing three-alarm fire resulting in considerable damage to the largest Baptist church in Alabama.

At 6 p. m., just as the election polls were closing in Mobile on Tuesday, May 1, fire was discovered in the social hall on the ground floor of the main building of Dauphin Way Baptist Church. The Mobile fire department responded with 10 fire trucks and seven companies.

The fire was under control in less than an hour, but not before considerable smoke and water damage was done to the downstairs and the upper floors, including the sanctuary.

Pastor Harold W. Seever was unavailable for comment. Minister of Education for Dauphin Way, Dennis Conniff, said, "We have had marvelous experiences resulting from this. Many churches of other faiths have offered their facilities and have shown a wonderful spirit."

Evangelist for the revival was Roy McClain from Atlanta. The services continued at the Dauphin Way Methodist Church for the remainder of the revival. It will be approximately a month before the affected areas will be in use.

Started On A Stage
Mobile fire chief Sirmon reported that the fire started on a small stage in the social hall from a short circuit in an amplifier. Three firemen were hospitalized, one was cut, and two were overcome by smoke.
